most their maturing obligations. The Governmen has disharsed liberally during the last flow days a Cineinnati, which will tend to produce case a that point. The Western demand for momey may therefore be considered past, but the South con tinues still to demand large amounts in paymen or cotton.

The Treasury has paid out about $12,000,000 taken from the idle halances held in the Treasury, without drawing upon its deposits in the National Banks. This is a substantial offset against the withdrawal of the funded currency. It must be extenembered that it will necessitate an early drawing slown of the deposits with the National banks. The demand for money on call is active. Applications were made early by the bankers, and the resource of the prevate bankers had been made engaged as mon. The rate on good collatorals is generally?
